FEATURED CME ACTIVITIES

CMU College of Medicine – Multidisciplinary Grand Rounds

Rising Bacterial Resistance and Mechanism-Dependent Treatments

Ziad Daoud, PhD; Professor, Clinical Microbiology, CMU College of Medicine, Mount Pleasant, MI.

Thursday, September 5, 2024; 7:30a-8:30a; Online

1.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit™

Course Description:

This presentation will address the critical issue of rising bacterial resistance, with a focus on multidrug-resistant (MDR) Gram-negative bacilli, including Enterobacterales and non-fermenters. We will provide an overview of current epidemiological trends and delve into the key mechanisms of resistance, exploring how these mechanisms impact treatment efficacy. The discussion will highlight the challenges these resistant pathogens pose to effective therapy and emphasize the importance of antimicrobial stewardship and appropriate antibiotic use in mitigating resistance. By understanding these resistance mechanisms and implementing strategic stewardship practices, we can better manage and combat the growing threat of MDR infections.

Implicit Bias in Reproductive Healthcare

Ryki Swank, CHES, and Emma Schmidt, MPH

Friday, September 27, 2024; 10:00a-12:00p; Virtual – Zoom. Registration Link: <https://www.eventsquid.com/register/25240>

Please see attached flyer for details

2.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™

Course Description:

This webinar aims to develop and deepen participants' understanding of how implicit bias may impact reproductive health providers and will empower participants to reduce barriers and disparities in the access to and delivery of healthcare services. This training is valuable for anyone who wants to serve diverse populations more effectively, support diversity and inclusion initiatives, and strengthen their cultural sensitivity. This webinar will include information on the historical basis and present consequences of implicit biases based on an individual's characteristics. Attendees will discuss strategies to remedy the negative impact of implicit bias by recognizing and understanding how it impacts perception, judgment, and actions that may result in inequitable decision making. Current research on implicit bias in the access to and delivery of healthcare services will also be discussed. By participating in this training, attendees will learn strategies that can be utilized to reduce disparities in access to and the delivery of healthcare services.
